

BANJO PARLOR

ON HISTORICAL MORRIS AVENUE, BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA

You are looking down Morris Ave. towards the 21st Viaduct. It's 1910 and the W. M. Cosby Building houses cotton. The building, built in 1907 was later occupied by the Yielding Brothers Grocery, then for 30 years was O. M. Davis Wholesale Grocery, and is now Oaks Street. Morris Ave., once the hub of Birmingham was the wholesale section for merchants and the trading center of the entire area. Everything from apples to nails could be purchased in a 2 block radius making Morris Ave. historically significant in the growth of Birmingham.
